Some Like It Below 0°

Winter storm Fern raced to Maryland's mountains and stayed around a while, leaving 21 inches of fresh powder and lingering cold temps to keep us cozying up in the lodge a little longer than usual. Some like it hot, some like it below 0° - we're somewhere in between. It's not too cold to enjoy the snow, and trust us, there's plenty of it to go around. You may just need a few extra pit stops in the McHenry Lodge to warm up and refuel for your next run. Luckily, the sun is shining, and the surface is groomed with powder stashes all over the mountain. There are some spots with some extra crunch and spots that are softening. Temps later in the week should be warming up, softening up the snow. Wear extra layers, grab some hand and toe warmers, take lots of hot cocoa breaks, and dive into the powder.
