The Ride

Climbing mountains isn't as hard as it seems.

During winter, our lifts move you from the base to the summit. It's a quick pause in between runs that gives you time to decompress, relive your last descent, and build anticipation for the next. From the moment you settle into the chair until you lift the bar at the top, the ride is all a part of the experience.

In the summer months, that same journey slows everything down. It's a glimpse into the quiet happenings around Maryland's mountains. A time where the noise fades, and scenic landscapes take over. It's a chance to spot wildlife, soak up the scenery, and enjoy little moments you might otherwise miss.

The best part? There's no experience required. Just hop on and enjoy where the ride takes you.

We're firing up the CATs as winter plans come to fruition day after day. From a planned leadership transition and increased snowmaking capacity to infrastructure maximizing and lift maintenance, the mountain is alive with anticipation for the winter to come. Winter can't wait. Can you?
